

Triangular Decomposition for Geometric Reasoning

Dongming Wang

Laboratoire d'Informatique de Paris 6, UPMC-CNRS, Paris, France

School of Mathematics and Systems Science, Beihang University, Beijing, China

June 10, 2009

In this talk, we present several algorithms for decomposing systems of multivariate polynomials into triangular systems of various kinds. The algorithms have been efficiently implemented and successfully applied to numerous problems in computational algebra and geometry. We discuss some of the applications to automated geometric reasoning with a number of illustrative examples.